Sheri Kidnapped as a Missionary in Ecuador

“Sister Stump said something that brought back a memory while in the Southern states, she said “when something’s coming, there’s a little oomph that you have inside”. It is so true. I had picked up a couple that appeared to be stranded with a little dog, I told them to sit in the back of the car. While driving I felt that. I had been driving, letting them listen to hymns while telling them about Jesus, when I distinctly felt what Shari spoke of, and I distinctly was told that I will see a tall man on the side of the highway, to pick him up and I will be safe. Within a minute I saw a tall man on the highway, pulled over, and while getting out of the car, one had an odd large knife, with rings for the fingers, and yet, while telling the large man to sit in the back, I distinctly heard, now you are safe. Another time I was praying with my elbows on my bed, (in Montana on Malstrom AFB) a voice tell me to get up, and leave quickly, even directing me where to go, and to knock on a door. When the door opened, I was invited in by a very upset young man. I told him that God loved him. He told me, that at the very moment that he had heard the knock on the door, that he was at that very moment going to commit suicide, and showed me this evidence. I then told him of the voice I heard while praying (It was an angel I am sure) and then asked this young man, ‘Do you believe me now, that God loves you?’ He said ‘yes.’”

(The above paragraph was left as a comment on YouTube. While we know the Bible is the main way God speaks to us, many times that still, small voice can be heard and be a blessing to us.)

Sabbatarian Pentecostal Bishop Starts a College

In the "West Kenya" playlist on YouTube, you will hear bishop Philemon ask for a college to start in his area. God put it on his heart! They have gone through choice RWD videos, and we provided a simple certificate, which I've been told the nation recognizes. Praise God!

Conman Transformed

"Praise God..Man of God I have a True testimony to tell you how I met Jesus Son of God..please give me time..in 2018 I was jail in one of the Prisons in 🇰🇪..I was to serve for 7years but I found God there..in prison we have 2rules..you respect God and Time..so I was jail because I use to be a CONMAN..I obtain money by false pretense section 313..in Kenya..I was denied for Bond..but I was given the fine of 1million..so I could not pay it at the moment..so I decided to serve so in prison the more u serve the fine reduce down..so I started to read the Luo bible in prison..and also I gave my life to Jesus..different people use to come and visit mi but I was strong because I was a strong believer with the Word of God..after serving for 2years at 2021..I was released through Appeal..without paying anything..so from their I know God is there for us..only if we obey the Rules and ten commandments..Now am a changed man..I have never conned anybody in my (new) life..."

Amen.

Witnessing Nearly Every Time on a Plane

"Hi Daniel. I hope you had a nice time in OK. This is Abbi your plane neighbor. I don't know your wife's number I know how you said you prefer to have her in any texts... I don't know any other way to reach you. I'm hoping this once it's alright... I'm hoping you can remember and share the info you said to give to my dad about my brothers suicide in regards to my dad thinking my brother is certainly in hell. I'd love to share it with him if you have the extra few minutes to forward. My email is -----@gmail.com

Thank you!!! Meeting you was life changing.”

Praise God!

A Word from Scott About Liberia

“Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa – this was not on my Bingo card. Well, it wasn't until a couple months ago. When presented as an opportunity to go with Daniel Mesa on a training session of pastors to Liberia, I was ecstatic to go. It seemed that June was so far away. But, now that it has come and gone, I feel a small sense of loss, a little piece of my life is missing.

Things I learned about the driving in Monrovia. First, lanes are optional. It may be the right side of the road for traveling is the more appropriate place to drive, but, based on vehicles, potholes or people in front of you, the left side of the road, or maybe even the shoulder might be a more exciting place to drive. Second, if you think you have the right of way, you probably do, unless there is a larger vehicle that thinks they have the right of way. Third, Motorcycles have umbrellas, and you can buy fuel for your vehicle every 10-100 feet (as they sell fuel from liquid containers [on right] in makeshift storefronts made of a few sticks of wood or a table). Fourth, stop signs are to be ignored and stop lights do not need to be on. Lastly, I would not want to be one of the driving instructors, of which we saw two.

Things I learned about the people in Monrovia. They did not spend their day with their face in a phone screen. They did enjoy gathering in groups to talk and hang out. Being clean was important, both physically and their clothing. The clothing was spectacularly nice, clean and proper. I noticed that my tennis shoes looked more worn out than any of the tennis shoes I saw on their feet.

Here are a few things I learned about those that attended our meetings. They love the Lord. One of their favorite things to say when beginning a comment is, “In Jesus' Name!” to which the rest reply in unison, “Amen!” These people are hungry for the truth. They want to know what the Bible says, not tradition. They are very willing to ask questions and receive answers. As our host, Bishop Josiah stated so fiercely, (a summary of him that has two earned two ThDs, with an honorary ThD, and an earned PhD in business) he said something like, ‘Degrees and pedigrees don’t matter, education and work experience doesn’t matter, social and political status doesn’t matter. Truth matters.’ And these beautiful people of Liberia have listened to and accepted the truth about the Father, about His Son, about their Spirit, about the state of the dead, about the similarities between antichrist and Jesus Christ, the second coming of Christ, and the mark of the beast. They now want to share with as many people as they can.

Things I learned about God on this trip. His way is better than mine. Where I thought that the delayed flight, leading to a missed flight, leading to an extra day of travel, causing a missed day of teaching, and then a long, slow drive to buy a TV, a delay in purchase with a broken transaction machine, running out of gas and getting the car stuck on a curb, was just a way for the devil to cause the message to not be heard. However, Daniel was shown, to which I agree, God needed a delay in the message to allow many pastors who could not arrive until Tuesday afternoon to hear the entire content. Missing a day and a half of teaching would cause significant confusion and hamper the understanding of the message. Also, God makes ways to explain His word. Though there was a significant language barrier, both we (Daniel and myself) and the attendees, were able to come away understanding each other enough that the message God designed for them was heard, understood and received with an open spirit and heart.

I continue to pray for our dear brothers and sisters in Liberia.
In Jesus Name, Amen.”

(I asked Scott to share his experience in writing after coming with me on this incredible trip.)
